From: Nan Garrison
 To: Shelly Garrison
 Date: March 3
 Subject: Dinner on Saturday

Dear Shelly,

Next Saturday is your grandfather's birthday. You and your parents are going to come to our house for dinner, right? Can you come earlier? I'm going to make a cake, but I need some help. We can make it together. I'm also going to cook spaghetti and meatballs. It's your grandfather's favorite.

Love,
 Grandma

A Special Lunch

Two weeks ago, Genta and his parents went to New York for summer vacation. They stayed there for five days. On the first day, Genta looked for sightseeing places on the Internet. He read about a famous sandwich shop. It was more than 90 years old. He asked his mother, “Can we go to this sandwich shop today?” His mother answered, “Not today. It’s very far from our hotel.”

On the third day, Genta and his parents visited a museum. After they visited the museum, Genta saw a sign across the street. He said, “Look! It’s the famous sandwich shop!” They went in and had lunch there. Genta ate a chicken sandwich. It was very big, so he couldn’t eat all of it. Genta’s mother had an egg sandwich, and his father had a tuna sandwich.

Genta took more than 100 pictures in New York. He will make a photo album and show it to his friends at school.
